Association Studies

Created: July 23, 2005; Updated: February 18, 2014.

I am designing a SNP association study, and am looking for control samples that are already available. Does NIH have control samples that I can access?

Association study data are available through dbGaP. The left sidebar has a link to the dbGaP FTP site where you can download public access data, and where users with the appropriate permissions can download controlled access data.
